

ARMY OF CROWN PRINCE BOTTLED UP IN THE MARNE SALIENT SAYS REPORT IN LONDON PAPER; PLIGHT ADMITTEDLY DESPERATE

BRITISH TROOPS ADVANCE ON FISMES; FRENCH STRIKE AT FERE-EN-TARDENOIS

Crown Prince's Troops Also Briefly Establish Themselves in Wood Near the Village; French Take Prisoners in Surprise Attack; Ten Divisions Hurry to Aid of Crown Prince.

HUNS' PROBLEM IS TO KEEP OPEN MARNE POCKET

LONDON, July 25.—The Pall Mall Gazette says that rumors are current that British troops have made a great advance in the direction of Fismes, about midway between Rheims and Soissons.

It is also reported that French forces have advanced on another part of the Aisne-Marne salient and that the armies of the German crown prince have been placed in a position out of which extrication seems to be impossible.

ALLIES STEADILY ADVANCE. WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE MARNE, July 25, 1918.—Franco-American troops this morning advanced their line north of the river Marne more steadily. The Germans continued their retreating movement to the north.

THREE MILES IN TWO DAYS. LONDON, July 25.—On the western front of the Soissons-Rheims salient the Allied forces have advanced to an average depth of three miles on a 12-mile front during the past two days.

AMERICANS MAKE BIG GAIN. WASHINGTON, July 25.—Northwest of Jaishonne American troops penetrated the enemy positions to a depth of from one to two miles.

NEARING FERE-EN-TARDENOIS. FRENCH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, via Ottawa, July 25.—French troops are now with three miles of the town of Fere-en-Tardenois which is the meeting point of eight roads. It is the center of the German communication in this region. The town is being heavily shelled.

COUNTER COMES TO NAUGHT. PARIS, July 25.—On the north bank of the Marne the Germans last night launched a counter-attack in the region of Dormans. The war office is announcing the movement reports that the enemy temporarily occupied the woods to the north of Troisy and the village of Chasseins. These positions were recaptured by the French soon afterward.

Violent artillery actions are reported from the region of the Ourcq and to the west of Rheims. The text of the statement follows:

"South of Montdidier a surprise attack allowed the French to capture 50 prisoners. On the north bank of the Marne, in the region of Dormans, the Germans during the night launched a strong counter-attack. The enemy succeeded in occupying the little wood 1,500 metres north of Troisy and the village of Chasseins, but, returning to the aggressive, our troops retook the two points in a short time later.

"In the region of the Ourcq and west of Rheims there were violent artillery actions."

CROWN PRINCE HAS TROUBLES. LONDON, July 25.—Nine divisions of reserves from the army of Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria and a division from the eastern end of the line have been rushed to the aid of the German crown prince between Soissons and Rheims but, says Reuters' correspondent with the American troops in France, the Germans may well hesitate to push more troops into the already crowded salient, facing the difficulty they are having of feeding these already there.

German resistance on the southern sectors of the salient had been reduced to a mere shell. It is added, and the enemy doubtless is contemplating efforts on keeping open the northern outlet of the salient. The Allied drive toward Guechy in Chateau ne only threatens the enemy communication with Fere-en-Tardenois, but is a serious threat for the German troops around Spidre whose line of retreat would pass through Fere.

AMERICANS CONTINUE TO PUNISH THE HUNS. WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE MARNE, Wednesday, July 25, (Night).—With their lines of communication reduced by operations on their flanks and their rear north of the Marne, the Germans have been forced to give up more territory. The French and American troops fought night after night in advance of the points where they started this morning.

AMERICAN SUBMARINE MISTAKEN FOR ENEMY CRAFT FIRED UPON. Allied Gunners Prove Claim to Marksman; Shell Penetrates U-Boat's Hull.

By Associated Press. WASHINGTON, July 25.—An American submarine has been fired upon by an allied armed ship of the New England coast. The submarine was only slightly damaged.

The scene of the attack was not far distant from the waters in which a German submarine recently appeared and when the American submarine came to the surface the captain of the allied ship assumed that it was an enemy vessel preparing to attack him.

Only one shot hit the submarine which quickly made known its identity. The shell struck on the deck near the conning tower.

The 28th Division, made up of the Pennsylvania National Guard and including the 110th Regiment in which are the boys of Connellsville and elsewhere in the coke region, is still actively engaged in the battle on the western front where General Foch is attempting to squeeze the army of the crown prince in the Marne salient.

This statement was made by General March, chief of staff. He stated that during this entire counter offensive the American divisions which he previously mentioned and which included the Twenty-eighth, have been constantly engaged and are still engaged at the last official accounts.

MAYOR INSTRUCTS POLICE TO BRING IN WORK SLACKERS

Dozen Without Visible Means of Support Spotted in the City.

FACE PRISON SENTENCES

Executive Expresses Intention of Having Them Arraigned on Charges of Vagrancy; Some Have Already Taken the Hint and Are Working.

Mayor John Dugan has ordered the police to give several men notice to appear before him for an understanding on the work or fight order which has been in effect since July 1. There are said to be about a dozen men in the city with no visible means of support and these loafers will be either put to work or sent to the workhouse on charges of vagrancy.

Mayor Dugan has already talked with three. No public hearings have been held, but a failure to go to work after being called before the mayor will result in arrest and sentence.

The police have the names of about 10 more men who have been reported as not working. Some of these have been reported by their parents directly to the mayor, with a request that something be done to make the idlers support themselves. The mayor gave their names to the police this morning with orders to have them looked up immediately.

One man who appeared before the mayor earlier this week went to work this morning. Another has a job in view. One who had been listed as a work slacker went to the mills before he was notified to appear before Mayor Dugan.

The mayor is not confining his crusade entirely to the men in the drags. There are others, just as able bodied, who are either under or over the limbo and these are included in the drive against idleness. One parent reported his son to the mayor for loafing continually. He said the boy escaped the 1918 registration by only a week. The young man will be given notice to appear before the executive and will either voluntarily take up a useful occupation or will receive a prison sentence.

When the work or fight order first came out in June, Mayor Dugan gave orders to have all the work slackers listed. He intended turning the names over to the government but will first put into effect his own plan, he says, saving the trouble for the other officials. The charge of vagrancy is one that will give the mayor power to make out a prison sentence. He said this morning that if the idlers do not take up useful occupations at once he will make examples of the first to be arrested.

Mayors and burgesses in Fayette county have been asked by the Fuel Administration to lend their assistance in bringing into line the certain percentage of coal and coke workers who are inclined to "loaf on the job" and rid the country of that element which has not seen fit to do "a man's part" in any regular employment. The request to the civil authorities to inaugurate a concerted crusade against loafing in all sections of the county followed the compilation of production figures in the coke region which revealed a substantial decline in both the coal and coke output.

RULING ON BEEF. One Meal a Day, Noon, at Public Eating Houses, is Order.

George F. Titlow, chairman of the food purveyors' branch of the food administration, announced the following rule effective at once at the hotels, restaurants and eating houses in the county:

Beef in any form may be served at the noon meal each day, and at no other meal. The by-product of beef—ox-tails, liver, tongues, barreled or canned, corned beef, hearts, kidneys, brains, tripe and beef trimmings together with lamb, mutton and pork may be served at any time and without restriction. Beef trimmings are made into hamburg, Bologna and frankfurters which need not be conserved.

Four Years for Killing. Steve Clipper, an Austrian, was sentenced to undergo imprisonment in the Western penitentiary of not less than two years nor more than four years by Judge J. Q. Van Swearingen Tuesday morning. Clipper was tried during the June term of criminal court for the murder of Mike Radovich at Thompson No. 3, May 27, 1917, but a compromise verdict of second degree murder was agreed upon.

"I will state that the present location of the division is unknown, but of course in an offensive like that where everybody is fighting, the commanding general uses the American troops, with the French, whenever he needs it."

General March himself a Pennsylvanian, no doubt has a personal interest in the Twenty-eighth Division and will watch its career with special pride.

Up to this time, no reports have arrived as to the part it has played in the great battle which resulted in pushing the German army back from the Marne. Casualty lists have not yet arrived so there is no information as to the losses sustained by the attacking forces. All that is known is that the Pennsylvania Guardsmen have been in the thick of the fighting for the past week.

UNEASINESS OF LOCAL R. R. SHOPMEN REMOVED BY ADVANCE IN WAGES

Requalifies in Government Scale Adjusted By Director General; Few Hourly Rate to Be 66 Cents.

The feeling of uneasiness that has existed among the railroad shopmen in Connellsville and elsewhere because of the inequalities in the advance in wages under the scale announced by the government some time ago, will be removed by an order of Director General McAdoo authorizing advances ranging from 5 to 15 cents per hour over the wages now paid.

The original scale made very insignificant increases in shopmen's wages and several strikes resulted in different parts of the country. Under the promise of an adjustment the men returned to work and a special board took up the matter of settling the questions that had been raised. Following the report and recommendations of this board Director General McAdoo yesterday issued an order fixing 58 cents an hour as the rate for shopmen with proportionate advances for assistants and miscellaneous classes in mechanical departments.

The new rates, which are retroactive to last January 1, are from 5 to 15 cents an hour higher than wages paid these men in most shops under the general wage advance allowed two months ago. Beginning August 1, eight hours will be recognized as a standard working day, and overtime, Sundays and holidays, work will be paid for at the rate of one and one-half times the usual rate. Back pay will be given the men as soon as it can be calculated.

The new scale of wages was announced as follows:

"Mechanics, boilermakers, blacksmiths, sheet metal workers, molders and first-class electrical workers, 58 cents per hour.

"Carmen and second-class electrical workers, 55 cents per hour.

"Helpers, 45 cents per hour.

"Foremen paid on hourly basis, 5 cents per hour, more than the respective crafts.

"Foremen paid on monthly basis, increase $40 per month. Minimum, $155, and maximum, $250.

The Stage Woman's War Relief is a large charity with many branches. Among its activities is a committee which has charge of the making of wind-proof vests for aviators and other fighting men who find it difficult to dress so as to keep warm. These vests are made of old gloves and pieces of leather and are warmer than sweaters. It is said they are a great protection against "bustles" that are sure to assault the soldier. Gusts of wind cannot get by them.

Everyone who has old kid gloves to spare should contribute them to the army or learn how to make the vests. The Stage Woman's War Relief has a large list of vests, with electric sewing machines, where the vests are made. Many of the gloves are sent in already cleaned—and this is a great help—others are sent to the cleaner. Then they are cut to form flat pieces of leather. These are matched up for size and color. After they have been pressed out they are basted together and stitched on paper patterns.

The reverse side of the vest is made of cotton flannel or other cloth, provided with a practical and roomy pocket and then the vest is neatly bound with braid. Leather book covers and leather postcards can be used in these vests, as well as gloves, and some interesting—not to say amusing—vests result from the use of these.

Any sort of usable leather may be commingled for this purpose—pill box tops, table covers and book covers. The leather must be firm and whole, and contributions are doubly welcome when they come in clean.

It is easy to understand that better vests can be made where large contributions of leather are received and the pieces can be matched up, than otherwise. Also the women making them become expert. Anyone wishing to do something useful in almost any community can undertake to accumulate leather for this purpose. Through the schools a great many gloves have been gathered, the pupils giving contributions at home that are brought to the teachers and sent by them to the collector. Stores will sometimes make contributions of old styles and clean—give gloves that have never been called for by their owners. The collector may place her materials through the Red Cross or send them to the Stage Woman's War Relief at 18 West Thirty-fourth Street, New York.

Julia Bromley

The Trench-Stone.

The well-dressed woman knows that it is in detail that she can prove her right to the title. Even last year's frock can be given a very up-to-the-minute air with a becoming new veil, new neck accessories or a girle of decorative values. Any one of these aid-de-camps will work wonders in rejuvenating a costume. Take, for instance, the girle. The plainest of dresses becomes interesting at once when one is added. The importance of the girle in this year's fashions was exemplified the other day in one of the new plays, in which a young actress wore the plainest dress of white crepe, which had a girle that was turned once at the left side and the ends finished with deep silk fringe. It made the costume, and the ensemble was stunning.

Evening Gowns Pass.

Evening gowns are now almost a lost art. Few women are buying them. In their place we find afternoon frocks of lace or net or point d'esprit, combined with satin. Above all, however, come the pretty short chiffrons in neutral shades—beige, navy, black, mauve and gray. These clinging chiffrons round out afternoon and evening occasions. For the older woman they are the type of frock par excellence.

How Calico Is Used.

Calicoes are made up along the same lines as more expensive fabrics, the chief trimming being white organdie or plique just as is used on tulle, voiles and georgettes.

Emphatically Asserts Worn Out, Lagging Men Can Quickly Become Vigorous and Full of Ambition

7 A DAY FOR 7 DAYS

Don't blame the man who is perpetually tired; his blood needs more red corpuscles and his brain and nerves are craving for food. Given the right kind of medicine, any tired-out, inactive, lagging fellow can quickly be made into a real live, energetic and even ambitious man. So says a student of the nervous system who advises all men and women who feel worn out and who find it hard to get up ambition enough to take a regular job to get a package of Bio-fren at any drug store. This is the new discovery that pharmacists are recommending because it is not expensive and speedily puts vigor and ambition into people who despair of ever amounting to anything in life. People whose nerves have been wrecked by too rapid living, too much tobacco or alcohol, have regained their old-time confidence and energy in less than two weeks. No matter from what cause your nerves went back on you; no matter how run down, nervous or tired out you are, get an original package of Bio-fren at once. Take two tablets after each meal and one before bedtime—seven a day for seven days—then one after each meal till all are gone. Then if you still lack ambition; if your nerves are not steady and you haven't the energy that red-blooded men possess, your purchase money will be gladly returned. Note to Physicians: There is no secret about the formula of Bio-fren. It is printed on every package. Here it is: Lactidin; Calcium Glycero-phosphate; Iron Phosphate; Manganese Phosphate; Ext. Nux Vomica; Powdered Gentian; Phenolphthalein; Oleanthol Capsicum; Kola.

THE ADDITIONAL COAL INSPECTORS TO COMPEL CLEAN FUEL FOR SHIPS

Highest Quality Must Be Provided for Use of Transports and Naval Vessels in the Submarine Zone.

A statement issued by the Fuel Administration says that the 25 additional coal inspectors recently authorized to be appointed will operate in the fields out of which is shipped coal for the Atlantic ports. They will be charged with the special duty of providing the highest quality of coal for the use of ships transporting men and materials through the submarine zone, for which purposes it is desirable that only the best coal be furnished. The slowing up of ships in the submarine zone by reason of poor coal is fraught with the gravest danger and the Fuel Administration will hold all shippers strictly accountable for the quality of coal shipped to tide-water for bunkering purposes.

The United States Fuel Administration has fixed the standard which shippers are required to observe to eliminate dirty coal from the ports and markets. It is expressly provided that no bituminous coal shall be sold, shipped, or distributed if it contains such a quantity of rock, slate, bone, sulphur, fire clay, shale, or such other impurities that it would not have been considered merchantable prior to January 1, 1916.

It is the intention of the Fuel Administration to make use of every remedy and every agency at its disposal, to guarantee provision of the highest grade of coal for bunkering purposes. Primarily the duty of detecting dirty coal belongs to the inspectors appointed for that purpose but a more strict surveillance of the output of the mines will be required of the district representatives, under whose jurisdiction the inspectors operate. The shipping of dirty coal, besides retarding the movement of the fleets using it, likewise involve a waste of labor, transportation, and Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and a FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordial," "Soothing Syrup," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without you or your physician know of what it is composed. CASTORIA DOES NOT CONTAIN NARCOTICS, if it bears the signature of *Chas. time, all of which must be prevented. The United States Fuel Administration will hold all shippers to a strict observance of the standard established in its order, and if it should transpire that the present regulations are ineffective more drastic measures will be put into effect.

COMBINE PATRIOTISM WITH PLEASURE BY PRESERVING

Making Jam Helps Uncle Sam

Now that preserving fruits and berries is entirely safe from the danger of waste in spoilage, it is the pleasant but no less patriotic duty of every housewife to put up all the jams, jellies and preserves she possibly can. This releases tons of valuable foodstuffs for our allies.

Why "safe," you ask? Because today the value of sterilization and Parowaxing is understood. Formerly housewives hesitated about preserving too much, particularly if the "cold pack" method was used, for fear some of the good things would spoil in time. But today, with pickles and span glasses and jars sealed air-tight with clean, pure Parowax, that danger is removed.

Even "cold pack" preserves are completely protected against deterioration when the jar-tops are dipped in Parowax.

Parowax keeps out all deteriorating influences—air, dust, germs, everything. It keeps in all the goodness, flavor, freshness. Your grocer sells and recommends Parowax.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"THE HEART OF A GIRL"—A five part World feature, with Barbara Castleton, supported by Irving Cummings and other screen stars, is being shown today. Miss Castleton appears in the role of Betty Lansing, while Mr. Cummings is seen as Brandon Kent, a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination. Betty's father is dead and she and her mother through the conduct of a bridge game for charity are suspected of eluding out their existence through their wifemans at bridge. One of the young men who has been a heavy loser at their tables is arrested while in the Lansing home for theft and as he is led away he accuses Betty and her mother of running a gambling house. An aspirant for Betty's hand who wants to harm Kent, declares to the nominating convention that Kent was recently in a gambling house when it was raided. This means Kent's defeat for the nomination as the women who vote in his state are a unit in opposing any gambling. But Betty at the last moment come before the convention and tells the real facts in the case with the result that Kent is victorious. The production is elaborately staged and the climax in the convention is one of the most massive scenes ever created for a film play. Tomorrow and Saturday Mae Marsh will be seen in "The Face in the Dark," a five part Goldwyn feature. Monday and Tuesday Rita Jolivet will be presented in "Lest We Forget" an exceptionally interesting Metro production.

ORPHEUM THEATRE.

Woman's Danger Period.

The period between forty-five and fifty-five years of age is said to be a crisis or danger period in a woman's life which tests her for her fitness to continue in the race. It is then that she suffers from such annoying symptoms as heat-flashes, nervousness, headaches, "the blues," or dread of impending evil, or some dormant disease in the system becomes active. When a woman is passing through this crisis there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which after forty years of success is now considered the standard remedy for woman's ailments.—Advt.

PLAN TO USE RAILROAD TRACKS IN COMMON BY COMPETING COMPANIES

Parallel Lines to be Converted into Double Track System; Would Require Building Many Connections.

Common use of all tracks in to follow the pooling of equipment of all rail facilities. Director General McAdoo soon will authorize a gigantic re-routing program providing for the conversion of parallel lines into double track systems. This move will include the building of scores of connections but the expense when compared to the vast good to be derived will be negligible, officials believe.

Robert B. Lavett, director general of extensions and betterments of railroad administration has instituted a survey of all lines favorable to combining facilities further. It is pointed out by officials that in many cases, lines run parallel for distances as great as 400 miles. Under competitive conditions each road gained its share of business. Since the last vestige of competition has been wiped out by federal operation officials say the line facilities should be utilized 100 per cent. Only by making them into one double track line can the fullest results be attained, they declare.

ENORMOUS WASTE

In Power Represented by the Gas Escaping From Anthracite Mines.

An estimated 1,000,000,000 hp. has gone to waste in the past ten years in the 1,000,000,000 cubic feet of mine gas that is known to have escaped from a single borehole in the vicinity of Luzerne, Luzerne county, according to reports made by engineers engaged to inquire into the waste of mine gas, which it is proposed by Governor Brumbaugh to put to use in the future as a substitute for coal in various sections of the anthracite field.

This gas has been escaping from the top of the Snake Island vein, which at that place has not sufficient rock cover to permit the mining of coal.

Great interest is being shown in the investigations that are being made. It has been well established that there are millions of cubic feet of mine gas going to waste daily in the anthracite fields. Experts have declared that this gas can be mixed with air and used successfully for commercial and domestic purposes.

Only Manufacturers Engaged on War Contracts and Employing Over 100 Men Are Directly Affected.

The United States Department of Labor has issued the following in explanation of the new labor recruiting policy:

"Only manufacturers engaged on war contracts and employing over 100 workers will be required to obtain their unskilled labor through the United States Employment Service of the Department of Labor by the ruling which goes into effect August 1. So much uncertainty as to the scope of the new labor recruiting policy has been shown in inquiries received by the Department of Labor from employers not engaged in war work that the department announced the exceptions under which private recruiting of labor may still be carried on."

"Nonwar industries are affected only indirectly. But they are one and all affected indirectly from the fact that the war industries of the nation are now of paramount importance, demanding sacrifice and cooperation from all employers not engaged in war work in order that they may obtain maximum efficiency."

"Nonwar industries, therefore, must not offer superior inducements, prevent the transfer of workers urgently needed for war production, or in any way attempt to compete with the government for labor."

"The following five classes of labor need not at the present time be recruited through the United States Employment Service, although, of course, the machinery of the Employment Service is available to all employers needing these classes:

- "1. Labor which is not directly or indirectly solicited.
- "2. Labor for railroads (except in so far as the director general of railroads has already, or may in the future require, that recruiting shall be exclusively through the United States Employment Service).
- "3. Farm labor—to be recruited in accordance with existing arrangements with the Department of Agriculture.
- "4. Labor for nonwar work.
- "5. Labor for establishments the maximum force of which (including the additional number recruited) does not exceed 100 employees."

SPRINTING IS QUITE POPULAR PASTIME AMONG ALLIED SOLDIERS BEHIND LINES

That the soldier is always keen for recreation, whether on the battlefield or in training camps, is shown in this picture of a field of athletes ready for the sprint in a 1,400-meter run which is being held behind the firing lines in France. For the time being the runners have discarded their uniforms and rifles and equipped themselves with the best possible athletic material on hand in order that they may show their best speed. Trench work and camp cooking have hardened the men and although many of them had not competed in a sprint for many years, all succeeded in completing the long distance.

FEWER PLAYERS FAVORED BY EBBETS

Policy of Some Managers to Carry Extra Players Not Wise.

Present: Grodzin & Son, 139 W. Main Street, Connellsville, Pa. Open House.

Freedom of the National League club is a thing of the past. The limit is the National League to 18 or 19 men. The new present conditions in baseball make such a movement impossible if the game is to be kept alive. Twenty years ago National League teams carried 20 or 25 players and the public with good reason, and because of this the game was kept alive. When you see the present conditions, you will see that the game is in danger.

ELBERFELD RUDE TO FAN

Kid Elberfeld, Little Rock manager, is as accommodating as any pilot in the Southern league but sometimes he bolts over when a fan butts in and tries to talk to him merely for the sake of saying something to a ball player.

A day or two ago Kid was talking to a Memphis sport writer about his ball club, when one of these butts came up "Who you gonna pitch today, Elberfeld?" the bug asked. The Kid didn't say anything to the fan, but kept on talking. "Where are you other pitchers?" the bug persisted. Silence. "Who's gonna pitch today?" "Say, for the love of Mike," said the Kid, pulling out a coin from his pocket, "take this nickel and buy you a score card and find out." But the fan had fled.

JAKE PITLER LEAVES PIRATES

Substitute Infielder Leaves Pittsburgh Team to Take Up "War Work" in Factory.

Jake Pitler, substitute infielder of the Pittsburgh club, is the latest major league ball player to quit the diamond for "war work." He has taken a position in a Pittsburgh factory and will play ball on the ball team maintained by the factory of which Enos Kirkpatrick is manager.

Pitcher Howard McGranor of Sioux City has gone to Chillicothe, O., his home, where he has been called by his draft board to report for service.

Roger Bresnahan, president of the Toledo American association club, has suggested to the league that games be played in the army cantonments.

The Cardinals have a number of players on their roster who are in Class 1A of the draft, but none of these has been notified to join the colors.

St. Louis fans are greatly excited over a statement emanating from Connie Mack that in his opinion the Browns would win the American league pennant.

JIM THORPE AGAIN AFTER REGULAR JOB

Jim Thorpe is a great believer in that old adage, "If you don't succeed first time, try, try, again." The famous Indian athlete who gained great renown in track athletics and football, is not cutting such a fancy figure in baseball, but he is a bear on perseverance. For the sixth consecutive year Jim is after a regular berth on McGraw's Giants.

Thorpe's chief trouble since he broke into the major leagues has been his inability to hit curve ball pitching although last year he was quite effective with the stick against southpaw twirling.

Frank Schulte continues to deliver the hits for Clark Griffith.

Charley Deal's eyes are better and his hitting has started to improve.

SMITH FAMILY IN LEAD THE MAJOR LEAGUES

Two Smiths, who were prominent in the major leagues last season, are now in the army. Sherrod Smith of the Robins is "over there," and Elmer Smith with Washington and Cleveland, is in a camp in the middle West. However, the Smith family still leads all others in numbers of representatives in the major leagues. The Boston Braves have J. Coakley Smith and Jimmy Smith. The Reds include Pitcher George Smith and Catcher Harry Smith. The St. Louis Cardinals have Jack Smith, and the St. Louis Browns, Earl Smith. Jimmy Smith is with the Cardinals, but the family does not need a ringer with a "y" to maintain its lead. No other family approaches the figure set by the Smiths.

Despite the war the Cleveland Indians are drawing good crowds at home.

Home Run Baker is giving Babe Ruth a battle for top batting honors in the American league.

Dick Maynard, the Amherst college star catcher and outfielder, has been signed by the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Indians are becoming very partial to the squeeze play and are using it with much success in close games.

C. Williams has added considerably to the batting strength of the Phillies. He has his eye on the pill, which rarely gets by him.

Connie Mack says he has no intention of starting the war between the two major leagues again, but he intends to keep Perry.

Frank Snyder, catcher with the St. Louis Nationals, has been ordered to report to his draft board and be inducted into the army.

President Ebbets of the Brooklyn Nationals is another magnate who is looking around for pitchers and does not know where to find them.

After de wise of owl split on de bait he say, sez ee—"I gwin ter sprize you all wid a mess er fishes 'cause you all mus' save de meat on eat sumpin' else insid on jes git our date of game bag an make it work, too." sez ee. Den he ketch a big fish and say, sez ee "t-hoot-t-hoot-t-hoot." sez ee. Wen he say dat he means dat when you all make rix biscuits jes don't make 'em—use corn meal ter save wheat flour fer de colors.

TIME IS SHORT

To the left is a ball-top jar partially sealed and ready for sterilization. The top ball is snapped into place; the lower ball left free. To the right is shown the way to complete the seal. The jar is now ready for storing. These and many other good pointers are in the free canning book any reader of this paper can get by sending a two-cent stamp to the National War Garden Commission at Washington.

Don't let autumn catch you with an empty jar. Can and dry while the Canning and Drying are good. Free book of instructions on canning and drying may be had from the National War Garden Commission, Washington, D. C., for two cents to pay postage.

When I left their barracks I began to cry, because it did not seem possible that I was going away, and at last I could see them starting slowly, just as I had been starting.

The next morning a sentry came to my barracks, called out my name and took me to the commander of the camp. They searched me, and then they took me back to barracks again. Then the men all thought they were just playing a joke on me, and they said so.

The same thing happened the next day, and when one of the men said that probably I would be slammed up against a wall and shot, I began to feel shaky. I can tell you.

But the third morning, after they had searched me, the commander said, "Well, you'll have to have a bath before you leave the camp," and I was so glad that I did not mind about the bath, although I remembered the last one I had, and it did not agree very well with me. After the bath, they drilled me out into the road.

There were four sentries with me, but not Switz, nor did I see him anywhere around, for which I was sorry. But all the boys came down to the barbed wire, or to the gate, and some were crying, and others were cheering, and all of them were very much excited. But after a minute or two they got together again and the last thing I heard was the song about putting up your old kit bag, and then, "Are we downhearted? No!" They were certainly game lads.

They did not take me straight to the station, but took me through all the streets they could find, and as usual, the women were there with the babies and apt. But I did not mind. I was used to it, and besides, it was the last time. As I just glanced at them, and thought that I was better off than they, because they had to stay in the hole called Germany.

I was still half naked, but I did not mind the two-hour wait on the station platform. I noticed a little sign that read, "Berlin: 25 miles north," and that was the first time I had much of an idea where Brandenburg was.

When we got into the compartment and I found that the windows were not unshut, I could not believe it at first until I remembered that this was not a prisoner train. We had a forty-eight hour ride to Lands, which is on the Lake of Constance, and no food or water to that time. But still I did not mind it much. At Lands they drilled me into a little house and took away all the addresses that I had, and then marched me over to the little boat which crosses the lake.

As I started up the gangway the last thing I received in Germany reached me—a crack across the back with a rifle!

The women and children on the dock had their fists up and were yelling, "American swine!" But I just laughed at them. And when I looked around the boat and saw no German soldiers—only Swiss civilians—I rubbed my eyes and could not believe it. When they gave me bread, which was what I had decided I wanted most of all back in the camp, I thought I was in heaven sure enough, and when, forty-five minutes later, we arrived at Rorschach in Switzerland, I finally knew I was free.

CHAPTER XXIV.

Back in the States.

After I arrived at Rorschach I was taken to a large hall, where I remained overnight. There were three American flags on the walls. The first I had seen in a long time. I certainly did a fine job of sleeping that night. I think I slept twice as fast to make up for lost time.

In the morning I had a regular breakfast for breakfast—eggs, coffee, bread and a small glass of wine. Even now, although I never pass up a meal, that breakfast is still easy to taste, and I sometimes wish I could enjoy another meal as much. But I guess I never shall have one that goes as good.

After breakfast they took me out on the steps of the hall and photographed me, after which I went to the railway station, with a young mob at my heels. It reminded me a bit of Germany—it was so different. Instead of bricks and bayonet jobs, the mob gave me cigarettes and chocolate and sandwiches. They also handed me questions—enough to keep me busy answering to this day if I could.

I got on the train to Zurich, and at every stop on the way there were more presents and more cameras and more questions. At St. Gallen they had cards ready for me to write on, and then they were going to send them to anybody I wished. The station at Zurich was packed with people, and I began to think I was a star for sure.

Francis B. Keene, the American consul general at Zurich, and his assistant, were there to meet me. We walked a few blocks to his office, and all the way the cameras were clicking and the chocolates and cigarettes piling up until I felt like Santa Claus on December 24th. After a little talk with Mr. Keene, he took me to the Stusselhof hotel, where my wounds were dressed and he believed me, they needed it.

The Swiss certainly treated me well. Every time I came out on the streets they followed me around, and they used to give me money. But the money meant just as well have been leather or lead—I could not spend it. Whenever I wanted to buy anything the shopkeeper would make me a present of it.

I also visited the Hotel Bar au Lac, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold McCormick of Chicago, who are doing such fine work with the Red Cross and are looking after the Belgian and

The Swiss Certainly Treated Me Well.

French refugees in Switzerland. It was a dinner, and much appreciated by me, at least. I need not mention his name, but he ate so much that he felt ashamed afterward.

I do not think he got in bad for it, though, for afterward Mr. and Mrs. McCormick each gave him a valuable present, which he seemed badly. After the dinner Mrs. McCormick made a little patriotic speech, in which she said that the Hun would never trample on the United States flag, and some other things that made all the Americans there very proud, especially Mr. Keene and myself. So you see I was having a great time.

But I was having a little trouble, all the time, for this reason: there were quite a few Germans interned in Zurich, and they went about in uniform. Now, when I saw one of these birds and remembered what had been happening to me just a short time before my hands began to itch. Believe me, it was not "good morning" that I said to them. I enjoyed it all right; they were not in squads and had no arms, so it was hand to hand, and pit to pit.

But Mr. Keene did not like it. I guess, for he called me to his office one morning and bewled me out for a while, and I promised to be good. "You're supposed to be neutral," he said. And I said, "Yes, and when I was torpedoed and taken prisoner, I was supposed to be neutral, too." But I said I would not look for trouble any more, and started back to the hotel.

But no sooner was I underway than a Hun private came along and began to laugh at me. My hands itched again, and I could not help but slam him a few. We went round and round for a while, and then the Hun reversed and went down instead. Mr. Keene saw us, or heard about it, so he told me I had better go to Bern.

So off I went, with my passport. But the same thing happened in Bern. I tried very hard, but I just could not keep my hands off the Germans. So I guess everybody thought it was a good thing to tell me good-by—anyway I was shipped into France, going direct to St. Nazaire and from there to Brest.

I made a short trip to Hull, England, with a letter from a man at Brestenburg to his wife. She was not at home, but I left the letter and returned to France. I was in France altogether about three weeks, and then went to Barcelona, Spain.

Then I took passage for the States on the C. Lopez y Lopez, a Spanish merchantman. We had mostly "Spigs" on board, which is navy slang for Spaniards. Almost every one of them had a large family of children and a raft of pets. We sailed down through Valencia, Almeria, Malaga, Cadix and Las Palmas in the Canary Islands. When we left Las Palmas we had a regular menagerie aboard—parrots, canary birds, dogs, monkeys and various beasts. The stowage of that boat was some sight, believe me.

We had both drill all the way across, of course, and from the way those Spigs rushed about I knew that if a submarine got us the only thing that would be saved would be monkeys. But we did not even have a false alarm all the way over.

I arrived in New York during the month of July, 1917—two years and a half from the time I decided to go abroad to the war zone to get some excitement. I got it, and no mistake. New York harbor and the old statue of Liberty looked mighty good to me, you can bet.

So here I am, and sometimes I have to pinch myself to be sure of it. I certainly enjoy the food and warmth I get here, and except for an occasional pro-German I have no trouble with anybody. My wounds break open once in a while, and I am often bothered inside, on account of the gas I swallowed. They say I cannot get back into the service. It is tough to be knocked out before our own boys get into the scrap.

But I do not know. I am twenty-three years old, and probably have a lot to live for yet. I ought to settle down and be quiet for a while, but comfortable as I am, I think I will have to go to sea again. I think of it many times, and each time it is harder to stay ashore.

THE END.

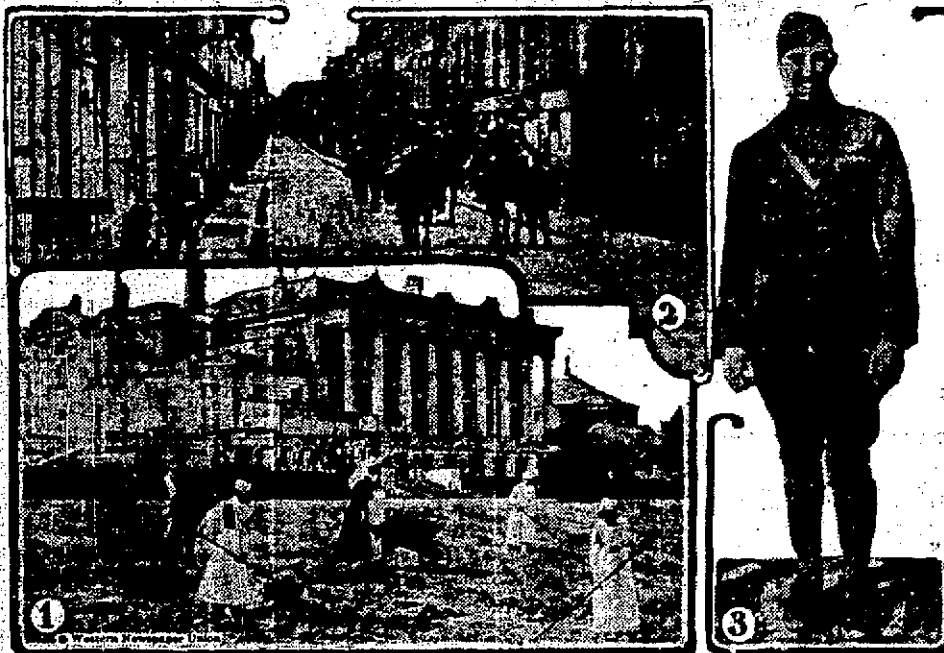

HER PREMONITION OF DEATH

Circumstances That Led Prominent Woman to Live Ever in Fear of Impending Disaster.

A most touching account of the premonition of coming trouble which she experienced, before the tragic drowning of her children at Paris, was given by Isadora Duncan, the dancer, whose poetic interpretations charmed the people of two continents.

Two months before the unhappy accident, the bereaved woman was continuously haunted with visions of death. Consulting her physician, she was assured that she was "suffering from nerves." When playing in Russia shortly afterward, so strong was her conviction, one night, that her own death was imminent, that she left a letter containing her "last words" on her dressing table, before going onto the stage. Again one night on the train she seemed to hear Chopin's Funeral March all night long. At the same time she seemed to see a vision which produced so vivid an impression that, on the stage next evening, entirely without rehearsal, she reproduced it in motion, reducing her audience to tears. "All through my performance," Miss Duncan says, "I felt as though I were marching to my grave through an icy wind, and afterward with a melody of resurrection, a sort of ecstasy that was not earthly."

The very day of the terrible accident, the mother had packed her little ones, who had accompanied her with their nurse to Paris, for a little outing, where their lodgings were, as she was to remain in Paris for the rest of the day; and in saying good-by she playfully kissed the lips of one of her children through the glass. Contact with the cold pane struck a chill to the mother's heart and a strange foreboding overcame her as the motor whizzed out of sight. A few minutes later the children were hurled from the overturned car into the Seine.

LEGAL POINT OF IMPORTANCE

"Delusions" Sufficient to Cause the Breaking of a Will Must Be Along a Certain Line.

The New York Law Journal tells of two cases recently decided, which are of some interest upon the contagion quite frequently made that testators were victims of "insane delusions" when, in fact, they had merely imbibed false impressions or were strongly prejudiced or eccentric in their modes of thought. In re Alexander's estate in the supreme court of Pennsylvania, it was laid down that a "delusion" of a testator, such as will invalidate a will, must be "an insane belief or a mere segment of imagination—a belief in the existence of something which does not exist and which no rational person, in the absence of evidence, would believe to exist." It was further laid down that the burden is on a party relying on the existence of a delusion to invalidate a will to prove that such delusion controlled the testator's volition and destroyed his freedom of action in disposing of his estate. The evidence was held insufficient to show that the will was executed in consequence of an insane delusion on the part of the testator, the petitioner's father, though testator practically disinherited her and may have been mistaken in his judgment that she had been guilty of unnatural conduct toward him and her mother.

COKE SUPPLY FAIRLY ADEQUATE FOR THE BLAST FURNACE NEEDS

But There Are No Signs of a Surplus, Least None is On the Market.

BROKER IS ELIMINATED

On Nearly So. Except in Feasible Trade; No Iron Production Still Below Estimates; By-Product Fuel Not Seen to Be Further Increased.

Special to The Weekly Courier.

PITTSBURGH, July 24.—Coke seems to be fairly adequate supply at the blast furnaces, but nothing like a surplus ever crossed out. If there is any more coke being made than is needed for current requirements it is either being stocked by furnaces that have regular contracts or is being offered in the market as foundry coke for boundary consumption. It is only very occasionally that any furnace coke is offered in the open market.

The coke broker is almost entirely eliminated, there being hardly any left for him to work upon. Firms which formerly did a heavy business in coke are now doing but little and have turned their attention to other lines, such as coal, pig iron and bituminous. There is little to be done in these lines, however, everything being so tightly held. By reason of the occasional paying of commissions by coke producers on foundry coke transactions some of the brokers have hoped that eventually, with a free supply of coke, there will be commissions on furnace grade also. Several brokers have a fair income through contracts they put through long ago, before prices were fixed for the present year, these being contracts at higher than the set prices.

The production of pig iron is still not what it should be, considering the number of furnaces in blast. As compared with 1918, when the country made 39,434,000 gross tons of pig iron, there are enough additional furnaces in operation to produce 42,000,000 tons or more, yet the actual production goes along at a trifle less than 41,000,000 tons. While there is shortage of coke here and there, it is not sufficient to make up the difference, and other explanations are being sought. One explanation offered is the shortage of scrap, it being well known that large quantities of scrap were consumed in blast furnaces in 1918. The use of scrap increases the daily output of the furnace and at the same time decreases the consumption of coke per ton of iron. Nowadays there is little scrap available for the blast furnace. Light turnings are available to an extent but the experience of some furnace managers is that they do not help, disappearing in some way more or less mysterious.

The set prices continue to be as follows, and the market on furnace, foundry and crushed coke over 1/2 inch is quotable at the limits:

Furnace	10.00
Foundry, 72-hour selected	7.00
Crushed, over 1/2 inch	6.00
Crushed, under 1/2 inch	5.00
Best	4.00

Coke screenings from old dumps, when properly prepared, are bringing up to $10.00 a ton. The government has for this material when suitably prepared, being $7.30.

The Cleveland by-product plant of the American Steel & Wire company, 130 acres, which began making coke late in May, is now in practically full operation. The Clairton plant of the Carnegie Steel company, which made its first coke late in June, will soon be in operation the second battery of 128 acres, the remaining three batteries to come later in the year and making 500 acres to be in operation at the end of the year. The 20th-avenue plant of the National Tube company at Lorain is now drying out the first oven completed and will be making coke in a short time, with prospects of full output being reached within a couple months. The rated capacity of all by-product ovens is now about 544,000 tons weekly against 487,000 tons at the beginning of the year, and the ovens continue to operate at about 90 per cent of rated capacity.

Coal shipments by the Pittsburgh district have increased somewhat, but the amount is all going into the lake trade. The district having lately been called upon to make up the deficiency caused by West Virginia and Kentucky being suddenly ordered to stop all large shipments of coke to the lake. The district is now in a position to make up the deficiency caused by West Virginia and Kentucky being suddenly ordered to stop all large shipments of coke to the lake.

The pig iron market is without incident. There is some talk of negotiations for the first half of 1919, but contracts mean practically nothing now when the War Industries Board dictates what deliveries shall be made, and as to prices, no contract can be made even for the fourth quarter of this year except on the basis that the government price ruling at the time of delivery shall obtain. The market is quotable at the government maximum limits as follows:

Foundry	$22.50
Foundry	$22.50
Foundry	$22.50
Foundry	$22.50
Foundry	$22.50

These prices are for a furnace in all cases. Prices from the valleys to Pittsburgh in 1918, while from half a dozen additional furnaces somewhat lower freight obtain.

COKE TRADE SUMMARY

Last week was somewhat of a disappointment in the operation both of coal and coke showing a falling off instead of a continued gain. It has been expected that the gain would not be material, but encouraged by the showing since Independence Day operations as a whole looked for enough of an increase to satisfy them that their effort along the lines of speeding up have not been without avail. With an estimated coke tonnage of 231,650, the loss from the previous week was 1,256 tons. This was accounted for by the ovens having been added to the inactive list, mainly at plants of the furnace interests. Some operations registered a gain as a partial offset, leaving the total at the figure named. The cause of the loss of 7,500 tons in raw coal production, which was 181,000 tons, is not so definitely located, but seems to have been due more to one of those periods of depression which follow improved conditions without apparent reason or logic. There is no lack of encouragement as to future prospects. It is realized that the continued and energetic efforts, which are unabated, to bring about a full six-day schedule have been producing results. It is believed that the labor supervision plan, made effective on Monday, whereby the dress among the workers are to be limited with the Fuel Administration, will have a good effect and will influence a certain percentage of men, not yet reached by other means, to employ themselves more diligently.

EVERY EFFORT MUST BE MADE TO CONSERVE THE STEEL SUPPLY FOR WAR

Requirements for the Second Half are One-Third More Than Ever Produced in a Six-Month Period.

Special to The Weekly Courier.

NEW YORK, July 24.—The American Metal Market and Daily Iron & Steel Report will review the steel and iron trade tomorrow as follows: The War Industries Board's statement late last week that steel requirements for the second half of the year total about 21,000,000 net tons, while the industry has never produced in a half year more than 16,500,000 net tons, is taken in the industry merely as a general observation as to the state of the trade and the necessity for every effort being made to conserve the steel supply and if possible, increase it. The 21,000,000 tons is regarded simply as a tentative estimate. In the case of preference material not purchased by the government the board must depend upon its own estimates or estimates made in the trade as to what will be needed to keep important commercial operations supplied. Thus the needs of public utilities, included in the preference list, cannot be stated definitely for a period of six months. On the other hand it is pointed out that prospects are for more than 16,500,000 net tons of finished rolled steel to be produced in the half year, the rate of production indicated by the June import figures being about 24,000,000 net tons a year.

Cooperation is more and more the watchword in arranging the distribution of steel. The War Industries Board gives a much more patient hearing to consumers who come with a project to limit their consumption closely than to those who arrive at Washington in a controversy mood. No one, perhaps, will be entirely satisfied with steel but to accomplish this end the appointments all along the line must be more or less restricted.

A few permits have been granted to ship Class D steel, but a very reserved policy is being pursued in this matter. A few interpretations of the preference list have been made in the direction of broadening its scope. The industry expects to get through the summer with very little restriction of output on account of the season. Production in June was at the rate of 43,500,000 gross tons of ingots a year and nearly if not quite 35,000,000 net tons of finished rolled steel.
